

Research and Development Cell

Our college's Research and Development Cell fosters a culture of academic excellence and innovation. Many faculty members are pursuing Ph.D.s, enhancing their expertise and contributing to the college's research landscape. Additionally, several faculty members are actively engaged in writing research papers, furthering knowledge in their respective fields.